Micro Insurance Products in India

Micro insurance in India

1. Introduction and background

Micro and small entrepreneurs (MSEs) have a variety of financial needs. While some of these needs can be predicted with a great degree of certainty, there are others that are uncertain. Savings and credit products are better suited for the events that will occur with certainty such as old age, marriage, education, purchase of income generating asset etc. The uncertain events such as sickness, accident, theft, fire, flood, etc which make the poor incur irregular or unplanned for costs, are better met by insurance especially where the amount required to mitigate or cope with the event is high. The micro and small entrepreneurs, whether in urban or rural area, are time and again choked by uncertain events, but they have not taken recourse to buying insurance from formal insurers for a variety of reasons. The reasons for this include lack of knowledge, the inaccessibility of the existing insurance schemes, inflexibility and uncertainty about benefits. This has led some of the Microfinance Institutions

(MFIs) to develop in house micro insurance programmers and some others to act as facilitators between the formal insurance companies and their clients. The present study focuses on the micro insurance programmers ' of MFIs. Some of the micro and small entrepreneurs (predominantly clients of MFIs) have also been surveyed to understand and estimate the risks they face, identify their risk cover needs and propose actions to be taken by MFIs to address these needs.

Generate Income and/or Capital Gains The biggest advantage lies in the multiple avenues they offer for earning some extra income in the form of bonuses (guaranteed & non-guaranteed), dividends, interests, and much more. Then there is also the option to earn capital gains from sale of equities, debts, mutual funds, and even real estate.

Accumulate Future Wealth The road to wealth creation cannot be traversed without a sound and solid investment plan. Opting for a Life Insurance policy enables one to build a corpus of money, which gets accumulated through the returns earned by investing in equity/debt funds over a long term horizon.

Avail Tax Benefits These plans bring with them an array of tax benefits. While the premiums paid towards life insurance policies are covered under Section 80C of Income Tax Act, the maturity/death proceeds are also tax-free under Section 10(10D).

Guard Against Risks Life is unpredictable and no one knows when one might need to encounter contingencies head on! For all those emergency situations, an investment plan works as a safety net in financial terms, and allows one to guard himself and his family from life's unexpected turns.

Agriculture Support Mission

What's the Initiative all about?

'Swavlamban', a Sanskrit term which means Self-dependent. While working exclusively with vulnerable and deprived community, we have found that for more than 80% families, agriculture is the only way to transform their lives. Yet somehow families largely cannot make it due to lack of technical knowledge and aid, financial networks, and the support of government stakeholders (as many did not know such community even exist). Believing that modern farming techniques and government stakeholder's support can completely change the lives of thousands of children, we have come up with this innovative solution called 'Swavlamban'.

How it works?

'Swavlamban' aims to improve the livelihoods of farmers and their families through progressive farming that decreases input costs, increases production, connects them with financial networks, and takes full advantage of government assistance. Swavlamban targets the problem of poverty in a context where as many as 80% of families survive by means of subsistence farming. Advanced farming practices with the help of progressive government schemes offer farmers the promise of better standards of living, but in remote and underprivileged communities agriculture workers are still not reaching their full potential. Swavlamban seeks to educate farmers about these available practices and government programs in order to propel them towards a future of dignity and a better living wage for them and their families. Consistent and adequate income empowers individuals and creates a better home environment where children are more likely to experience all of their rights.
